England in Queenstown on the evening of March 29 bound for New York City. A cholera epidemic broke out while en route and the ship was diverted to McNabs Island, near Halifax, in Canada. Mary, the youngest, died and was buried at sea. Passengers were quarantined on McNabs Island until May, when they were cleared for entry into New York. In the passenger manifest on the S.S. England in 1866, she is 34, putting her birth about 1832. In the 1875 state census she is 37, putting her birth about 1838. The burial took place a month after the death. A local Chicago researcher has suggested that it was quite common during cold spells to delay the burial, sometimes up to two months. He also said there have been gravedigger strikes where the bodies had to be stored until the strike was settled.
