General Notes: William and Mary Dorothy were living in New Brighton, Cheshire, not far from Liverpool, when Mary Dorothy died in 1860 leaving William with ten children ages twelve to one. In 1864 William remarried. He and his new wife, Margaret Steele, moved to Scotland, where he had been born. In 1871 they were living in Argrennan House in Tongland, Kirkcudbrightshire.

About that time, William purchased property in Kirkcudbrightshire near Castle Douglas which had belonged to the "Black" Douglas family since the 14th century and which included Threave Castle, located on an island in the River Dee. In 1872 William had Threave House built on land overlooking Threave Castle, south of Castle Douglas. William died in 1899. Margaret, his wife, died in 1920. His grandson, Alan Francis Gordon, b.1892, gave the estate to the National Trust in 1848. Alan Francis was the younger son of William Gordon, the oldest child of Mary Dorothy and William Gordon. The house, which overlooks the extensive Threave Gardens, was opened to the public in 2002 and is visited by 60,000 people each year. The gardens also serve as a live classroom for the NTS's School of Practical Gardening.
